

Little Hope Given for Relief from Heat Wave This Week

The Weatherman held out little hope of immediate relief from the heat here as the mercury climbed back up toward the top of the thermometer tubes for the fourth day in a row.

His forecast was for continued hot with increasing humidity. The only consolation was the prediction of "considerable cloudiness" for Friday with possible showers by Saturday.

The general heat wave which has held this part of the nation in its grasp for days, was keenly felt here Wednesday, and again Thursday.

Wednesday, with an official reading of 98 degrees, was not only the hottest day of the season to date, but one of the hottest days in recent years, and the intense heat was accompanied by a great deal of humidity which made the torridity doubly oppressive and caused general discomfort and suffering.

The low point for the 24 hours ending at 8 A. M. Thursday was 63 with a minimum of 67 during Wednesday night-- hottest of the day.

At 8 A. M. Wednesday the temperature was 74 and mounting rapidly, with indications the mercury again would soar well into the nineties during the day.

But Fayette Countians were not alone in their sweltering misery. Reports from across the nation showed virtually all of it was being baked by the summer's worst and longest heat wave.

The heat belt extended from the Dakotas to the New England states, as the oppressive heat moved into the eastern seaboard yesterday. The nation's weather map yesterday showed readings of 90 and above in all parts of the country except the mountain and Pacific coast states. New high marks for the date were set in many cities. Thousands of workers in Detroit auto plants left their jobs because of the oppressive heat.

Jump Was To Escape from Russians Mrs. Kasenkina Says in Hospital Bed

Never Wanted To Return to Russia
Where Husband Seized, Son Killed

NEW YORK, Aug. 26—(AP)—Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina says she jumped from a third-floor window of the Soviet consulate to escape Soviet persecution which had "destroyed" her life.

From her hospital bed, the 52-year-old Russian teacher told newsmen yesterday that she had made up her mind long before she came to the United States that she was going to quit her homeland for good.

A few hours after the interview—in which Mrs. Kasenkina spoke directly to newsmen for the first time since her jump on Aug. 12--Soviet Vice Consul Zot I. Chepurnykh sailed aboard a freighter for Russia.

"I am going home," said Chepurnykh, "and there is no country in the world like home."

His superior, Consul General Jacob M. Lomakin, stripped of his credentials yesterday by President Truman, has booked passage to leave Saturday.

The consulate itself has been ordered closed by Moscow because of the U. S. action against Lomakin.

He had given a sharply differing version of the Kasenkina affair than that which came from the lips of the injured teacher.

She said Lomakin and Soviet Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin had "told me what to say" during an earlier interview at the consulate.

At that time, Lomakin said he had "rescued" her from an anti-Communist white Russian camp near New York City to which, he said, the teacher had been "kidnaped."

A SCHEDULED NEWS CONFERENCE with Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina, Russian school teacher who is central figure in international controversy between United States and Russian governments, is cancelled because "she is too excited to talk with anybody." Before cancellation, however, three photographers obtained first pictures of her in Roosevelt Hospital, New York City, since her leap from a third-story window in the Soviet consulate in New York.

Old Jalopy Key To Who's Lying To Spy Hunters

Hiss and Chambers
Accuse Each Other
From Same Stand

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—(AP)—Congressional spy probes gave chase to a 1929 jalopy today in a renewed attempt to prove whether Alger Hiss or Whittaker Chambers lied about a prewar Communist underground.

They also started writing a report on what they have found out so far.

In a drama-packed encounter before the House un-American activities committee yesterday, Hiss and Chambers told widely different stories about a Model A Ford and about nearly everything else.

They traded charges of "liar" at a hearing that ran all day and into the night. Each struck firmly to his main points, in the face of warning that one or the other is sure to face a perjury trial.

Chambers, short, pudgy, 47-year-old senior editor of Time magazine, insisted Hiss was a member of a Red underground in Washington a dozen years ago. He said he knew because he used to be a Communist himself and served in the underground.

Hiss insisted it wasn't so, that he doesn't even have any friends who are Communists that he knows of.

Formerly a policy-making official in the state department, Hiss now is president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He is tall, wiry and more boyish-looking than his 43 years.

For nearly seven hours, the committee put him through a grueling grilling. For an hour and 37 minutes, it questioned Chambers.

When it was all over, Chief Investigator Robert E. Stripling turned to reporters with one more question and an answer:

"Who was lying? I don't know."

In a formal statement, Hiss called Chambers a "self-confessed liar, spy and traitor" and asked:

"Indeed, is he a man of sanity?"

To a direct question from Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.), Chambers replied:

"I have never been treated for mental illness."

And as Hiss shook his head slightly from side to side, Chambers said:

"Mr. Hiss is lying."

He said Hiss told a story that was at least 80 percent false.

Yet his voice broke and tears flooded his eyes when he called Hiss one of his best friends.

Control of Noise In City Is Planned

Council Also Passes Ordinances
To Regulate Parking in Some Areas

Outstanding in business coming before city council at its regular session Wednesday night, was an ordinance providing a penalty of $10 and $8.70 costs for persons who park their vehicles on the sidewalks.

At the same session an anti-noise ordinance, which covers nearly every phase of unnecessary disturbance, was placed upon its first reading.

The ordinance prohibiting the parking of motor vehicles and other vehicles on the sidewalks, or parking any part of a vehicle over the sidewalk lines was placed on its various readings and passed by unanimous vote.

City Manager W. W. Hill said that the ordinance was the result of many complaints received about motor vehicles parking on sidewalks and other places, and that the police would be instructed to enforce the law wherever violations are noted.

Commissioners And Engineer Face Charges

POMEROY, Aug. 26—(AP)—Meigs County Prosecutor Dana H. Peoples today promised a "full investigation" of charges of neglect of duty leveled by the grand jury against the board of commissioners and County Engineer J. E. D. Hartinger.

The grand jury yesterday recommended the removal of Hartinger and the board.

The jury said an investigation of Hartinger's office disclosed no records had been kept. It also charged the board of commissioners with buying oil supplies and tires from a single company without advertising for bids.

Hartinger and his nephew, Dan Hartinger, a county commissioner, were indicted by the jury last May on charges of conspiracy to defraud the county. Various dates have been set for their trial. Dan Hartinger is also under indictment for embezzlement.

H. M. Allen of nearby Letart Falls, a service station owner, was indicted jointly with J. E. D. Hartinger yesterday on charges of embezzlement of county owned lumber.

The jury said payrolls in the engineer's office are recorded in pencil and no permanent records are made.

"Why the state inspector has permitted such proceedings to continue is a mystery to the grand jury," it added.

Another 'Tokyo Rose' Arrested To Face Charges of Treason

TOKYO, Aug. 26—(AP)—Mrs. Iva Ikuko Toguri D'Aquino, accused of being one of six dufluent voiced Japanese radio disc jockeys known to American service men in the Pacific as Tokyo Rose, was arrested today.

The specific charge against the American born Japanese wife of a Portuguese was treasonable activities during World War II. She will be tried in San Francisco after she lands there about Sept. 28 from the U. S. Army transport General H. Frank Hodges.

During the war, six English speaking Japanese women regaled American service men from Alaska to Australia and Hawaii to Kunming with a spicy radio program of records plus propaganda and sometimes sexy patter. The nickname Tokyo Rose was applied to all six.

The program was popular with GI's for its inaccuracies in detailing military operations, its good selection of records and the sexy remarks. It first became popular during the Guadalcanal and Aleutian campaigns.

One of the highlights of the program was a campaign to persuade GI's not to take a stab in the jungles. Tokyo Rose told them in a confidential tone that the anti-malaria drug would make them sterile. Service doctors found a lot of men believing her, too.

The 32-year-old Los Angeles born Japanese woman was arrested on orders from U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark. She was lodged in Sugamo prison from which she was released last October after authorities had investigated her.

"We became scared and pulled out," Wiegner was quoted by the attorney.

We are going to hear a great deal about the two-way radio with which the sheriff's cars and police cruisers are equipped, with the central station for both departments at police headquarters.

The officers had tried out their radios and found perfect communication between the station and police and sheriff cars up to 15 miles.

However Wednesday while Sheriff Hays was enroute to Russellville, he called Chief Vaiden Long, while driving along five miles south of Hillsboro.

Sheriff Hays was surprised when Chief Long answered from the station here and his voice was as clear as if the two men were only a few miles apart.

It was the first time the far-reaching possibilities of the two-way radio set had been tested out, and the officers are jubilant over the fact that communication is possible much farther than at first anticipated.

Time after time since it was installed a few weeks ago the two-way radio has demonstrated its value in making arrests and furnishing assistance that could not have been done in any other way.

Amphibious Truck On World Cruise Picked Up at Sea

NEW YORK, Aug. 16—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Carlin, who started around the world in a converted army amphibious truck, have been picked up by a tanker after drifting in the Atlantic for ten days.

The couple now is bound for Halifax, Nova Scotia, on the tanker New Jersey instead of for the Azores, their first planned stop.

The tanker radioed the coast guard last night that it had picked up the seafarers 270 miles from New York. There was no mention of what was done with their craft.

The last previous word of the Carlins was on Aug. 11, shortly after they sailed from here. At that time a navy destroyer sighted their craft about 150 miles at sea.

Farm Price Support Facing Possible Cuts

Question Raised as Crop Goals Studied
In Mapping New Agricultural Program

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—Talk of possible cuts in farm price supports was heard in government circles today. It stemmed from the prospect that the agriculture department may have to put up around $1,500,000,000 to keep prices on 1948 crops from falling below levels fixed by law.

Any changes would have to be made by Congress, however, and the lawmakers are not due back until January.

Discussion of the price support problem was heard anew at the agriculture department where officials are mapping out a 1949 farm production program. Its goal is to get farmers to start cutting back from high wartime levels in some crops—particularly wheat, potatoes, oilseeds, and possibly corn.

A proposal that eight percent less land be planted to wheat already has been announced. But reports from the field indicate growers plan to ignore the department's recommendations and plant another big acreage.

The action of Congress in June in extending the wartime price supports for basic crops another year was said to be influencing the farmers' wheat plans. Officials said growers of other crops also are likely to ignore suggestions for smaller output of crops already listed as surplus.

The Truman administration had urged lower price supports for next year's crops.

No responsible department official is willing to be quoted by name, but many already are estimating it will take around $1,500,000,000 in commodity loans and government purchases to carry out supports on this year's crops. These estimates include 3,000,000 bales of cotton for a total of between $450,000,000 and $500,000,000; 100,000,000 bushels of wheat at $200,000,000; 400,000,000 bushels of corn at about $600,000,000; and $250,000,000 on other commodities, including eggs and potatoes.

Officials said present support levels might encourage big crops again next year which would involve $1,500,000,000 in price supports.

Complaints about pot shots taken at the agriculture department are being made today. It stemmed from the prospect that the agriculture department may have to put up around $1,500,000,000 to keep prices on 1948 crops from falling below levels fixed by law.

Ship Caught In Hurricane Over Atlantic

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 26—(AP)—The steamship, Virginia, with approximately 100 passengers on board, wallowed through a hurricane in the Atlantic about 1,200 miles southeast of Miami today.

The passenger-freight ocean liner is en route from New York to Capetown, South Africa. She reported no danger but "very rough seas" in a message to the weather bureau's storm warning service at Miami.

The hurricane developed in a section of the Atlantic which storm forecasts said "is a blank unless a ship is there." The Virginia gave first word of the tropical blow early today.

Her message reported:

"Barometer 29.80 inches and falling about .10 inch per hour. Temperature 87, wind force 9 (about 50 miles an hour), increasing and varying slowly from east to southeast. Sea very rough, sky solid overcast, light rain."

A Russian ship, the Petmakis Nomikos, was at the western edge of the storm and informed the weather bureau by radio that the barometer had dropped to 29.52 and continued to fall.

A navy hurricane hunter plane winged its way around the storm to determine its direction and prepared to pierce the disturbance to its center. The plane was piloted by Lt. (JG) C. W. Gibbs of Laurens, S. C.

Columbus Woman Held for Shooting Into Passing Cars

COLUMBUS, Aug. 26—(AP)—Complaints about pot shots taken at the agriculture department are being made today. It stemmed from the prospect that the agriculture department may have to put up around $1,500,000,000 to keep prices on 1948 crops from falling below levels fixed by law.

The victims were Mrs. Yolanda Cannavino, who was wounded in the back, and her son, Michael, hit in the arm by the same bullet. She was riding in a car with her husband, Anthony Cannavino.

Police reported that another motorist complained earlier of a bullet hole suddenly appearing in his fender as he drove past the woman's house. She was held for investigation.

Body of Ohioan Hunted in Alaska

KIMBALL, Neb., Aug. 26—(AP)—Word was being awaited from Canadian officials today in the search for John A. McComas, 52, of Dayton, Ohio.

Gustav A. Wiegner, 24, who accompanied McComas and his daughter on a trip to Alaska, told a story here of the accidental shooting of the Dayton man in British Columbia. Kimball County Attorney Kenneth C. Fritzler said.

Fritzler said Wiegner was being held without charge pending word from Canada on the outcome of a search for McComas's body.

McComas' daughter, blonde, 13-year-old Louise, was taken into custody along with Wiegner at Bushnell, Neb. Fritzler said she was being held for juvenile authorities at Montgomery County, Ohio.

Demonstration Is Designed to Discredit West

Police Line Broken
As Crowd Storms
Through City Hall

BERLIN, Aug. 26—(AP)—Howling, Communist-led demonstrators smashed through police lines and stormed into Berlin's City Hall today.

Communist leaders shouted a demand for "an end to this bankrupt city government." They called for formation of a "new, Democratic administration in Berlin which will work hand in hand with the great Soviet Union and the countries of eastern Europe."

Police reserves were called up to handle the crowd, estimated to total more than 10,000 persons.

They forced their way through a police line, led by men who shouted:

"Down with the capitalists!" "Down with the splitters!"

After bursting into the building, which is located in the Soviet sector of the city, they rushed upstairs to the city assembly chambers.

The city parliament had been scheduled to meet this afternoon, but called off the session when the threats of Communist demonstrations became known.

Red banners carried the words: "one administration, one currency," "we want potatoes," "down with the enemies of the workers," "down with the agents of monopoly capitalism."

Berlin's city parliament, (council), predominantly anti-Communist, had been scheduled to vote on a resolution to send a Berlin delegation to western Germany's "constitutional assembly."

The postponement was proposed by Socialist leader Franz Neumann and approved by the parliament's nine-man senior committee.

Acting Mayor Ferdinand Friedenberg told members he could not guarantee parliament's safety. He said he had been tipped off by a member of Moscow-trained Paul Markgraf's eastern Berlin police that Communist demonstrations were planned.

The demonstrators were members of the Socialist unity party (SED), which is sponsored by the Russians and dominated by the eastern zone Communists. The crowd gathered outside the city hall, carrying red banners and chanting the Communist anthem, the "Internationale."

BALKIN BATTLES

LONDON, Aug. 26—(AP)—Communist Yugoslavia has accused Communist Romania of conducting a "monstrous anti-Yugoslav campaign" and of plotting to topple Premier Marshal Tito's regime.

Yugoslav Foreign Minister Stanjko Simic handed the Romanian ambassador in Belgrade a note accusing Romanian officials of urging Yugoslavs to revolt and overthrow Tito, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug, reported last night in a broadcast from Belgrade.

The note singled out Mrs. Ana Pauker, foreign minister of Romania, as one who has "openly called for the elimination of the present state leadership in Yugoslavia."

In addition, the note said, the press, radio and officials of Romania have addressed gross insults and "most shameful expressions" to Tito and the majority of the Yugoslav people.

It was the latest episode in the conflict between Tito and the Russian-dominated Cominform (Communist International Information Bureau).

Special Train To Cleveland Being Planned

Will Take Band and WCH Supporters To Browns-Rockets Game

BY MAX HALL (FOR JAMES MARLOW)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—(AP)—The long, plodding campaign of the immigration and naturalization service to expel people from the country on grounds of Communism has been thrown into confusion.

And it looks like the confusion may continue for a long time. Here is the reason:

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough has ruled that the service's method of holding hearings—presided over by immigration inspectors—is illegal under the administrative procedures act of 1946.

He ordered it not to go any further in deporting Gerhard Eisler, Irving Pitash, John Williamson, Ferdinand C. Smith, and Charles A. Doyle unless it changes its methods and starts over.

This is the same Judge Goldsborough who fined John L. Lewis in connection with two coal strikes and later upheld the legality of Lewis's pension plan for miners.

His ruling in the deportation cases came on May 5. It jolted immigration officials so they only now are beginning to recover from their astonishment.

They insist that the administrative procedures act does not apply to immigration hearings.

For a time they stopped all hearings entirely.

Disagreeing with Judge Goldsborough, they have no intention of changing their whole system unless forced to do it. They have appealed the ruling. But it will take more than a year to get a supreme court decision. Meantime, what should they do?

Apparently, they have resolved to proceed cautiously in other cases following their traditional method—even though, if Goldsborough turns out to be correct, all their work will be overturned.

They were somewhat encouraged because of a ruling here July 28 by another federal district judge, Alexander Holtzoff. This was in a different case, which did not involve charges of Communism. But it did involve the legality of immigration hearings, and Holtzoff said the administrative procedures act doesn't affect them.

Holtzoff's ruling does not change Goldsborough's injunction in the Eisler-Potash-Williamson-Smith-Doyle case.

Nevertheless immigration officials have decided to hold a hearing Monday at New York in the case of a man known as J. Peters. It will be the first deportation hearing on Communism charges since the Goldsborough ruling.

Peters, like Eisler and the others, is an alien. That is, he is from abroad—and has not become a U. S. citizen.

Against all these people the immigration service has charged: (1) That they are Communists; (2) That the Communist party advocates the violent overthrow of the government.

The immigration law provides for the expulsion of aliens who belong to organizations which believe in violent overthrow.

Peters, who was arrested by immigration agents on a sidewalk in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., several

An excursion train from Washington C. H. to Cleveland Sept. 26 for the Browns-Rockets football game has been arranged by the Young Businessmen's Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

This is the day the Washington C. H. High School marching band has been invited to give one of its spectacular half-time performances before the fans in Cleveland Stadium.

The train will leave from the B. & O. station here at 6 A. M. Sunday and will return after the game, arriving about midnight, according to Perse Harlow, chairman of the YBM committee to arrange the excursion.

There will be a diner on the train ready to serve breakfast when the train leaves and it will continue to serve meals during the day. There will also be sandwiches and cold drinks sold in the cars as they are on any other excursion, Harlow declared.

Final plans for the excursion were worked out at a recent meeting of the YBM committee with Don Gibson of the Lions Club and Wendell Briggs of the Rotary Club. Victor Smith and Fuller Jefferson are the other members of the YBM committee.

A special rate has been arranged with Joseph Casey, of Columbus, division passenger agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The charge will be $10 for the round trip. The price of admission to the game is included.

A block of 500 tickets, regular $2.40 seats, in the lower deck at the 35 yard line of the stadium has been reserved for Washington C. H. fans on the excursion to watch the WCH band perform and, incidentally, see the football game.

A sales drive next week for these tickets is now being arranged by Harlow's committee. The time and place of the sale will be announced soon, he said. He explained that sales from this block of tickets would have to be made and the money in Cleveland before months ago and is out on $5,000 bond, is wanted by the House committee on un-American activities for testimony. This committee says it will send someone to the New York hearing to serve a subpoena on him.

The immigration service has taken many setbacks in trying to prove its claim that Communist membership is sufficient reason to deport an alien from this country.

The biggest setback was the Harry Bridges case. In 1945 the supreme court held that the government had not proved Bridges was a Communist. Therefore it did not feel compelled to rule on whether the Communist party has violence on its mind.

The supreme court has never made a clear-cut ruling on that issue.

Postwar Maneuvers Planned By Italy's New Defense Army

BY C. R. BRUSINI

ROME—(AP)—Italy's Republican army is undergoing field training in its first maneuvers this month, nearly five years from the day when a few companies lined up with the allied armies in southern Italy to drive the Germans from their homeland.

The battered Italian army was then at its lowest ebb. There was no equipment, no arms, not even barracks left.

Retrained and re-equipped with surplus allied weapons and stores, the few companies grew to regiments and divisions. When the peace treaty cut down Italy's armed forces to 200,000 men, the defense ministry had the opportunity to weed out deadwood and cut red tape.

When the new Italian army paraded in Rome for the first time,

September 18, the last day the seats would be held for the YBM by the Browns officials.

The tickets will be in three parts, one of which will be transferable for reserved seats in the block held for those going on the excursion. According to the present YBM plan, tickets for the excursion will have to be purchased here before September 14.

The number of cars on the train will be determined by the number of tickets sold, Harlow said.

a few weeks before the April general election, it surprised everybody. Big classes coming up with conscription allowed the medical officers to choose carefully the few men they needed.

The soldiers are better equipped, better fed and better housed than in prewar and Fascist times. With only one one armed force to look after—instead of the army and Fascist militia—the nation's efforts are centered on building up the morale of these new soldiers, called to be ready only for defense.

For Italian boys of 20 now reporting for service, their 18-month period in the armed forces will be a sort of high grade physical education. At the Tor Di Quinto training center, near Rome, where the boys are taught to handle American tanks and jeeps, everybody from the sentries to commanding officers has the "new army look." They appear young, satisfied and interested.

New Type Fabric Being Developed

SYDNEY — (AP) — A Sydney man claims to have found a cheap way of recovering fiber from the ramie plant. If claims of the inventor Mark Wise are proved correct, a world "fabric revolution" may follow.

Ramie is an East Asian shrub that grows 3 ft. to 8 ft. high. It lives for 10 to 20 years and can be cut every six months. It yields about one ton of fiber an acre, compared with about 200 pounds of cotton an acre. The Chinese have used ramie fiber for weaving for 2000 years. They have recovered fiber by hand. Hundreds of machines have been invented and millions of dollars have been spent in the search for a mechanical way of separating fiber from the wood, bark, and insoluble gums.

Sydney inventor Wise says he

CHEYENNE, Wyo. — (AP) — Wyoming ranchers are looking at grasshoppers with a slightly -- very slightly--less jaundiced eye. Controls, Inflation and Public Opinion

Within the past few days we have made it a point to listen in, whenever the opportunity presented, to comments of shoppers in the business section of our city. There can be little question as to the mounting dissatisfaction over prices which we have heard expressed by more than half of the people who were talking about purchases they made.

This does not apply to Washington C. H. only, or to any other place in Fayette County. It is general in scope and far worse in many places than here.

This unhappy situation is also reflected in reported recent findings of the American Institute of Public Opinion which indicate that its surveys show that 56 percent of the people are now expressing their opinion that the government should restore rationing and price controls on some products. Evidently they already have forgotten their recent complaints over shortages and black markets.

We do not know how this survey was obtained or whether it is in any way an outgrowth of politics at this particular time but it is disturbing in its inconsistency with reports of a comparatively short time ago.

Food is one of the classes of goods which, this survey says, were mostly suggested for price control. But it also declared that while 56 percent of those interviewed favored price controls only 46 percent of the same people were reported as willing to see government guarantees and subsidies reduced or eliminated. Here is shown a large segment of the population, if this survey is anyway nearly correct, who wish to "eat their cake and have it too." They take the peculiar position that the government could both hold prices down with controls and at the same time boost them up with subsidies and guarantees.

If there is any sharp swing in public opinion toward controls, those who favor such a move had better do some deep thinking. No one yet has offered a sound method of controlling prices and at the same time continuing subsidies and higher taxes to push inflation up and up.

In the controls so far proposed nothing has been offered which could reduce the cost of operating an enterprise. No one, whether he be a farmer, a storekeeper or a manufacturer is willing to do business at a loss.

If we are to do anything constructive about inflation we must attack it by dealing with the causes, not the symptoms. And one of the first and most important moves should be to obtain economical government combined with a tax policy that offers incentives to production.

It is folly to keep trying to find a scapegoat for high prices. Our entire present government fiscal policy is of a kind that makes more and more inflation inevitable.

Life On Mars

The old question "Is Mars habitable?" has just been answered in the negative by Dr. Otto Struve of the University of Chicago, speaking before the International Astronomical Union. There is no vegetation to amount to anything, only the driest of mosses. Also the atmosphere contains large quantities of carbon dioxide, the poisonous gas which we breathe out, said Dr. Struve.

No, Mars does not sound inviting. Even if we could get there, it is no place for relief from the housing shortage.

The navy is moving into the Pentagon in Washington. Wonder if they'll do any better than the army at charting their way around in it?

Diet and Health Occupations May Injure Your Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

It is a well-known fact that certain occupations are accompanied by definite health hazards. Office workers are usually immune to these but there is one disorder which might be called "stenographer's shoulder" because it occurs so frequently in typists, though it also afflicts others—hairdressers and machinists among them—who work with the arm in similar positions.

Apparently, movements of the arms necessary to these occupations cause friction of a tendon near the shoulder joint, with a consequent cutting down of its blood supply. This in turn results in a deposit of calcium salts along the tendon.

Shoulder Area

This in itself will usually cause no symptom, but if an injury brings about inflammation of the tendon, severe pain and limitation of movement will occur. These symptoms may be preceded by minor aches and pain in the shoulder area. The pain may extend over the entire length of the arm and even into the fingers.

If the acute condition is not treated, a long-continuing or chronic disorder develops. In the latter instance, there is pain in the shoulder and tenderness over the area in which the lime salts are deposited. Later, the whole shoulder area becomes sensitive and the pain may pass upward into the neck and down into the hand. Certain movements of the shoulder are limited, and there may be a hitch when raising or lowering the arm. When the arm is moved as far as possible away from the body, the tenderness disappears. The calcium deposits can usually be seen in an X-ray photograph film.

When an acute attack of this nature occurs, it has been suggested that an injection into the area of a local anesthetic or pain-deadening preparation should be carried out. Thereafter there should be immediate and continuous movement of the shoulder to increase the circulation and speed up the absorption of the calcium.

During the giving of this injection, the calcium deposit may be punctured from seven to ten times and the anesthetic solution is injected into the deposit. The pain disappears and muscular activity returns in from ten to thirty minutes after the injection is given. The patient is taught shoulder exercise which he carries out.

Pain Recurs

After a few hours the pain recurs and, in fact, may be more severe than before. However, the muscular stiffness may be less. At this time, the patient is given sedatives or quieting drugs, and heat is applied to the shoulder area.

If movements are carried out regularly, the calcium is absorbed within from three to four weeks and complete relief from the symptoms occurs. The severe symptoms usually disappear in about ten days.

If this type of treatment does not bring about a cure, it may be necessary to remove the calcium deposits by operation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

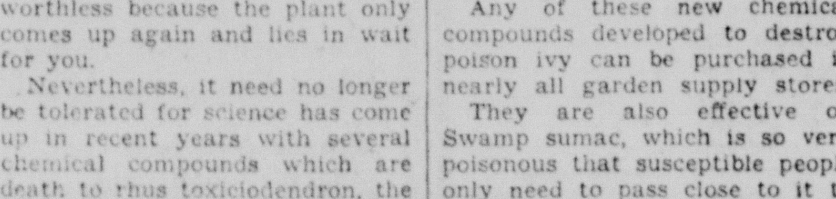

R.: When I was young, I had boils. Now I have scars. My skin is wrinkled. Is there anything that can be done for it?

Answer: It is possible that the condition may be relieved by plastic surgery, unless the scarring is quite excessive, in which case it would be advisable to have nothing done.

SWAMP SUMAC ALSO IS POISONOUS

No Need to Tolerate Poison Ivy

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Distributed by Central Press Association

AS NEARLY every gardener knows, poison ivy is a treacherous, persistent pest. To cut off the plants and leave the roots is worthless because the plant only comes up again and lies in wait for you.

Nevertheless, it need no longer be tolerated for science has come up in recent years with several chemical compounds which are death to this toxicodendron, the horticultural tag for poison ivy.

A special form of 2, 4-D, the chemical weed killer, will destroy poison ivy if it is applied when in full leaf and actively growing. More than one application may be necessary. Therefore, learn to keep an eye on this pest until it has been eradicated. The three tell-tale leaves shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph identify it.

Poison ivy also will give up the ghost if you dissolve a pound of ammonium sulfamate in a gallon of water, and spray the plants with the mixture.

Any of these new chemical compounds developed to destroy poison ivy can be purchased in nearly all garden supply stores. They are also effective on Swamp sumac, which is so very poisonous that susceptible people only need to pass close to it to become poisoned. It can be identified by its smooth-edge foliage, illustrated. Most sumac trees have either dented or toothed foliage. The flowers of the poison sumac, illustrated, appear in June.

The fruits of the poison sumac also differ from those of other sumacs as it produces ivory-white fruits while the Staghorn, Smooth and Dwarf sumac all have red fruits.

In an editorial in the Communist newspaper Borba, the party virtually declared that the Premier Tito-Cominform fight was between governments and not just between parties of the countries involved. Borba's stand can be considered the official Yugoslav party line.

"Everyone knows," the editorial declared, "that in our system it is senseless and hypocritical to say that relations between Communist parties are one thing and relations between states are another."

Ladies Ready for Campaign, too

By Sigrid Arne

ALBANY, N. Y.—Graceful, efficient Frances Eileen Dewey enjoys "something just a little too hard to do."

The wife of Thomas E. Dewey isn't likely to be dismayed at demands of the White House if her husband becomes the nation's first Republican president in 16 years.

She may be expected to be the same quiet capable wife, mother and helpmate in Washington she has been during her six years as mistress of New York's executive mansion.

She won't be one of the "women" in politics and there will be no startling social whirl of her making.

Not that Mrs. Dewey is antisocial. She's a charming hostess, fun to talk with, but she never has gone in for large-scale dinners and social functions unless they are required affairs of state.

"People don't change fundamentally," she says. "There have been reports that Tom has changed, but he hasn't. I think it's just that people are getting to know him."

Nor has Mrs. Dewey changed outwardly, except for a few more grey hairs. She hasn't looked at herself lately, she says, but others find her the same easy-to-look-at, slender brunette that she was when Tom Dewey was New York City's racket-busting attorney. She still weighs 120 pounds and parts her hair in the middle as she did when she was Frances Hutt in Sapulpa, Okla.

She's a "little bit excited and a little bit scared" about the future. Cameras, especially, frighten her, although she is highly photogenic.

She's not being specific about the future and will not mention the White House except to say she never has been inside.

"I live from day to day," says this intelligent, Texas-born daughter of a railroad trainman.

Her preparations for the presidential campaign trip: A couple of new suits and hats. One suit is black and the other grey—simple, well-tailored outfits that contribute to her customary chic. She usually wears small crushable hats, but this time indulged in some feathers.

Mrs. Dewey never is without a piano for long. After being graduated in 1920 from high school in Sapulpa, as class valedictorian, she came east on a railroad pass to study singing in New York City. She scoured the city until she found an inexpensive, satisfactory upright for her small apartment.

Eight years later, having had her fling as a professional singer in church choirs, concerts and George White's Scandals, she went to the altar of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church in Manhattan with a mustachioed singer-turned-lawyer.

When they set up housekeeping in a three-room Manhattan apartment, Tom Dewey brought with him the concert grand piano he had at his rooms. Today, 20 years later, that piano is at the Pawling estate.

Musically, she favors Bach, but likes anything that's "just a little too hard, so that you have to give it all you have."

Her two growing sons take much of Mrs. Dewey's time. She is trying to raise them as "normal boys."

She has had no secretary and answers her own mail, which includes many requests to support various causes.

Living politics as she does, Mrs. Dewey might be expected to take to the stump herself. But she won't. She explains:

"I have lots of political opinions and love to air them, but I'm not a politician and don't intend to be."

She takes her husband's defeats and victories calmly. Typical was her remark at the Republican Convention in Philadelphia last June, after Dewey's nomination was assured:

"I guess I'd better go put on my hat."

'Merchants of Death' Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Whether or not Alger Hiss was or is or has been or has never been and is not a Communist is something for the committees of Congress and the grand juries and courts to decide and also they have to decide whether he was privileged to be what he was or was not and who is lying.

However, way back in about 1941, I came across the existence of the Ware group in Washington who were engaged in placing Communist in the most critical positions in the federal government. I was then told who the original 10 were and among them was mentioned Alger Hiss. I naturally did not publish the name because I could not prove the fact. However, it is a remarkable coincidence that every name on that Ware list has risen to high office in the federal government and is now accused of espionage. I wish further to note that I was then informed that the Dies committee had turned over to the Department of Justice the full data on the Ware group. But this is only incidental of my subject today, which is "Merchants of Death." Quincy Howe, editor of "Living Age" from 1929 to 1935, gathered documents showing that the armament makers of France and Germany were in collusion to make money out of war. This material was eventually published in "Fortune" magazine under the caption "Arms And The Men" (March, 1934). Those engaged in the business of manufacturing munitions of war were labeled "Merchants of Death."

Senator Gerald P. Nye set up a committee of the Senate to investigate American munitions manufacturers and he traveled up and down the country attacking them, demanding "conscription of wealth," "taking profits out of war." This campaign was so effective that it left the United States without an adequate munitions industry when war came. I engaged in debates on the subject in several cities, calling attention to the danger of this propaganda, and was smeared as a hireling of munitions makers. So competent was the work of the Nye committee, of Quincy Howe's material and the "Fortune" article, that anyone whom they attacked and smeared was repudiated.

Now, this Nye committee possessed vast powers. It could subpoena the files of every manufacturer in the United States whom it suspected of being engaged in the manufacture of arms and munitions; it could investigate the relations of such manufacturers with similar ones in Europe. It could ferret out every research that was being done to improve American weapons of defense and offense. Its authority was so broad that it could go into the files of citizens suspected of relations with arms manufacturers. Its purpose was clearly and admittedly to disarm America. And that was done as anyone knows who remembers Pearl Harbor.

So we come to Alger Hiss. He and Charles Kramer, also accused of Communist espionage, were employees, investigators, research workers and aides to Senator Nye. There again is the long arm of coincidence. Who shall say that it is not true that Alger Hiss, coming out of the Harvard Law School, did not take the Nye committee on just as a job? He had already entered the government as assistant to the general counsel of the AAA, which was Henry Wallace's organization. He moved from there to be legal assistant to the Nye committee; from that job he went to the Department of Justice. Since he entered the government in 1933, he has remained in it until last year when he succeeded Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler as president of the Carnegie Endowment for international peace.

Who shall say that this is not a bright Harvard lawyer trying to get on? Nevertheless, the fact must be brought out clearly that one of the worst jobs ever done by a senatorial investigating committee, acting as a propaganda agency, was that of the Nye committee to disarm America and leave her helpless before a foreign foe. And that job was done in the face of the failure of the London economic conference, of a distressed Europe, and of Hitler's rise to power.

Why does not Congress investigate the files of the Nye committee to discover how that body came into existence and under what inspiration?

Grain Racketeers Poland's Problem

WARSAW, Poland—(AP)—Poland's ministry of agriculture is out to stop racketeering in grain prices. The country has a bumper crop this year which may triple the 4,000,000 tons of wheat, rye and barley produced in 1947.

The ministry, recognizing that peasants may go in for hiking prices or fall into the hands of speculators, announced "all racketeering in grain will be prosecuted and most severely punished." A citizen's militia of about 100,000 men and a special commission to fight abuses and speculation have been instructed to keep a close check on the sale prices of all grains. If the prices are higher than the government has fixed, the seller faces a stiff fine and jail sentence.

Russian Develops Branched Wheat

MOSCOW—(AP)—Not all the plant breeders of the Soviet Union are formally trained scientists working in plant breeding stations. Some are just plain farmers. For instance, Vasilii Ivanovich Kolichenko in 1938 got for himself four seeds of a weed which was actually a branched type of wheat gearing grain on more than one stalk. On his collective farm in the Stavropol area, he worked year after year selecting only the best and most fruitful plants.

Now he regularly receives letters from other collective farms asking him for samples. "Branched wheat" is one of the subjects of intense research by Soviet agronomists at experiment stations throughout the country.

Is Junior Ready for School?

Mental and Emotional Development
Of Children Responsibility of Parents

BY DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
Will your child be in the proper frame of mind to go back to school cheerfully, now that the summer vacation period is ending?
That will depend largely upon you, the parent, says Professor Gertrude P. Driscoll of Teachers College, Columbia University.
Dr. Driscoll, who is a specialist on the mental and emotional development of children, believes that if you are going to adopt that attitude: "Thank God, vacation is over and junior will get out from under my feet," you're going to have one whale of a time getting him to go cheerfully.
"Junior is going to act up," she says. "He'll feign illness and create quite a rumpus. And it's going to be doubly difficult if an attractive younger child is left at home."
The parent should build up a feeling of pleasant anticipation. Such questions as: "I wonder what you are going to learn this year," help, says Dr. Driscoll.
Anticipation can be heightened by conferences about the new wardrobe he'll need for school. Get his ideas and, perhaps, have him accompany you on a shopping tour, advises Dr. Driscoll.

If junior is attending school for the first time, or if he is about to enter a new school, go with him the first day, says Dr. Driscoll.
"If parents show a lack of interest by getting up late and taking their time about helping junior get to school, how can they expect him to show the proper interest?" she asks.
Teachers, too, have a responsibility to the beginning pupil, says Esther Wilson, a kindergarten teacher at Royal Oak, Michigan.
Writing in the Michigan Education Journal, Miss Wilson cites how each child, coming from a different home environment, is an entirely different individual who requires the understanding and sympathy of the teacher.
If your youngster is having difficulty in getting adjusted to a new school, you can help him, says The Child Study Association in their Parents' Questions And Helpful Answers.
You can break the ice by inviting one or two of his classmates home for dinner if he seems at all friendly with any of them. If you have a yard, some tempting play equipment may do the trick. Few youngsters could resist for long a swing, or tools and boards, or a heap of sand.

Following the rally, a movie, "Land of Liberty," will be shown continuously till 5 P. M. in the council chambers on the second floor of city hall. Mrs. E. M. Selby is chairman of hostesses for the movie and announces the public is invited to the free showings.

Baby Learns To Swim

You can't expect your youngster to enjoy swimming unless he learns to enjoy the water first. Try not to let older children tease baby and frighten him when he is near the water. When he is about five years old, take him to a competent instructor who will teach him so that he will gain confidence as he progresses.

Brush Your Lips

When using a lipstick brush be sure to outline the lips carefully before filling in with your lipstick. It is good to follow the lip line right out to the corners on the first outline. Then taper and enlarge as you see fit.

Aching Feet Can Have Painful Results
For Women Not Careful About Their Shoes

By BETTY CLARKE

Aching feet can cause painful decisions. A housewife, office boss or factory foreman whose feet hurt may be responsible for making miserable all with whom they come in contact.

Many a man has been fired by a boss with aching feet. Many a mother wonders why her youngster develops a whining voice when he may only be reflecting her own bad temper caused by aching feet.

High heels or broken down old slippers in which she may attempt household chores will tire her arches quickly. Also in cramping the foot, they may contribute to corns, callouses and even bunions. Open-toed shoes which may be fitted too short also can be annoying to the worker who stands up on the job.

If you tire easily during a work day take an inventory of how you prepare yourself for your job. Tight garters should be avoided as they may impede circulation. Long dresses with long sleeves may also prove cumbersome—particularly when laundering, waxing or scrubbing the floors.

The best costume for a household worker is a short sleeved dark dress, preferably one that buttons to the side housecoat fashion, a band of cloth wound around the head to protect the hair and keep annoying wisps from straggling out of place.

Shoes should give plenty of toe room—experts say they should be about one-half inch longer than the longest toe. Stockings should have "give" to them, too. Wear a Cuban or low heel leather soled shoe for more comfort.

Bathe the feet several times during the work day, if you are at home. Soak your feet in the bath tub or put them in a small wash basin and scrub them with soap. This will only take a few seconds. Dry them thoroughly and shake on some talc or foot powder. Change your stockings every day. Rotate the use of your shoes.

Cut your nails straight across to prevent ingrown nails. Lamber up your feet, rub oil into them occasionally. After an oil bath wrap your feet in a piece of flannel or cotton batting saturated with chilled good quality witch hazel.

Garden Club Holds Meeting At Duff Home

The August meeting of the Town and Country Garden Club, was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. Charles Duff, on the Old Springfield Road, with eleven members and one guest present.

The rooms throughout were decorated with summer flowers, and Mrs. Duff presided over the business session consisting of the reading of the usual reports, and the constitution and by-laws of the club, which was followed with a lengthy discussion by the members of the newly organized club.

Plans were also discussed for enlarging the club membership, and it was decided that each member would go privileged to invite one person, to become a new member.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Alice Cory, and was built around the topic, "The September Garden Calendar." Mrs. Cory spoke interestingly on the vast number of perennials which should be planted in September including bulbs, shrubs, and smaller plants, how to prepare the soil, and how to protect them during the winter months.

She suggested, mulch, and the use of hard leaves, such as oak, hickory and maple, as leaves that do not decay readily, which helps greatly to preserve the bulbs and roots throughout the winter months.

This also brought out a panel discussion which closed the meeting.

During the social hour following, Mrs. Duff was assisted in the serving of a tempting refreshment course by Mrs. Robert Rowland.

The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Paul Thompson on the Waterloo Road.

Campus Girls Conservative Sweater and Skirt Still Favorite Outfit Among Collegians, Survey Discloses

BY DOROTHY ROE

The college girl's favorite all-occasion outfit is still a sweater and skirt, her tastes are far more conservative than those of her mother, and she demands her money's worth.

These facts were gleaned at a recent "convention" of students from colleges in all sections of the country, who sat as judges at a New York fashion show and chose their favorite outfits.

The votes of the girl "delegates" showed that they are fundamentally practical, that they want good, conservative, long-wearing basic clothes which they can spice with light-hearted accessories.

The backbone of every college wardrobe, north or south, east or west, is the good tailored suit, which can be dressed up or down according to the occasion, worn with sweater or dressy blouses, transformed by switching jackets. The average college girl spends from $45 to $60 for this suit, a poll of more than 100 colleges showed, and she demands that it be well-styled, longwearing and made of the best possible material.

Another "must" in the college clothes lineup is a black, date dress, with taffeta the preferred fabric this year.

Add to these two basic requirements a stock of assorted sweaters and skirts, a casual wool dress, a supply of blue jeans and flannel shorts or pedal pushers, a stock of men's shirts, and the average collegienne is all set for the year's events.

In addition to these daytime clothes, most girls require at least one evening dress, depending upon the formality of her college and the amount of social activity it offers.

The poll also showed that the best customer of the nation's college shops is the freshman, who usually buys a basic college wardrobe at the outset, and then wears it for four years, with minor additions. Freshman, it was learned, average from $300 to $400 for their first college clothes budget, while upperclassmen usually hold their yearly clothes-spending to about $100.

College girls attending the "convention" also revealed that many girls prefer to wait until they arrive at the college of their choice before stocking up on clothes. They want to see what the other girls are wearing and be sure to make no mistakes. For this reason, college buying continues well into the fall.

Most girls, it was learned, feel ersville and Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Reelhom of Pataskala, and attended their family reunion. Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and that they need only a few dressy clothes, and plan to spend the bulk of their budget on casual and tailored things.

Women's colleges confine their dressing-up to weekends for the most part, with the usual campus outfit consisting of blue jeans, slacks or shorts worn with shirts or sweaters. In some schools jeans or slacks are not permitted for classroom wear, and in these the sweater and skirt is the next choice.

The girls want good accessories—handsome wide leather belts and handbags, bright scarfs, plenty of sweaters, sturdy low-heeled leather shoes of the "loafer" variety for every day, high-heeled sueded or ballet slipper types for dressy wear.

Wool sports dresses popular for date dresses in New England and northern colleges, usually are cut on classic lines, with bold plaids or vivid solid colors preferred this year. Wool and velveteen jumpers worn with sweaters or blouses, also fit into the picture.

The most popular evening dress of the season is ankle length, bouffant and trapless, with a matching bolero or stole. Most popular price is from $25 to $30.

As to the all-important sweaters, no college girl ever had enough of them. One good cashmere is an almost universal desire, with long-sleeved pull-ons the staple item. Nylon sweaters are growing in popularity, because of their modest price and their easy washability. Dressy sweaters in chenille with a touch of glitter are popular for date and evening wear, with short or long black velvet or faille skirts. "Sloppy Joes" are now out of the picture, and in their place girls want sweaters which fit well and can be worn tucked in or outside a skirt.

Turtleneck and crew-neck styles are favorites—and for dress-up wear the girls like fine-rib knit cashmere or wool sweaters with an embroidered metallic emblem.

Information about the new directory was received recently by Rep. Walter Huber, Akron Democrat. He got a form letter from its publishers, offering to sell him the list, together with a sample page from the directory.

Huber turned the material over to a reporter without comment.

Fewer Veterans In College Now

Decline Logical In Opinion of VA

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON — The Veterans Administration (VA) says the war veterans in college this fall may drop 10 percent below last winter's peak. "It is logical to expect most of this decline among the junior colleges, teachers colleges and other small colleges and universities," Harold V. Stirling, VA education director, said in an interview. "Many veterans who enrolled in junior colleges are completing the two-year course offered by these schools. Some may continue undergraduate study in other colleges."

"Others enrolled in the smaller schools while waiting for openings in the larger institutions of their choice. As a result of these transfers, total war-veteran enrollment in the larger colleges and universities are expected to hold fairly constant during the next academic year, while marked decreases will be noted in the enrollments of smaller colleges."

Peak enrollment in the veterans educational and job-training program was 2,802,000 last December. Enrollment of veterans in colleges alone reached 1,245,000. Enrollments declined steadily and toward the end of the academic year last May had decreased to 2,703,000 in all programs and 1,141,000 at the college level.

Stirling said the rate of decline among college enrollments probably will be slower than originally expected because of increased subsistence allowances granted by Congress this year. "These increases will enable many veterans—particularly those with dependents—to complete their college courses rather than abandon them for economic reasons," Stirling said. "Nevertheless, college enrollments may decline as much as 10 percent below last December's peak."

Stirling said the veterans enrollment peak in schools below the college level has not yet been reached. The number of veterans, particularly in business and vocational schools and high schools, has increased during the past year. Stirling said they can be expected to increase again this fall in spite of the restraining effect of the recent ban on avocational or recreational courses. Higher ceilings on earned income plus subsistence allowance will account for a part of the increase.

Belgium's Products Sent on World Tour

MALINES, Belgium — (A) — A floating commercial fair will leave Belgium next November to bring an exhibit of Belgian goods to prospective buyers around the world. The 10,000-ton ship "Captain Paret" is now being refitted to contain 250 exhibition stands which will be made available to Belgian manufacturers.

The ship is scheduled to sail from Antwerp to Pernambuco and Rio de Janeiro. From Brazil she will go to Buenos Aires, then to Valparaiso, Callao and Acapulco, Mexico. After a visit to Los Angeles and San Francisco, the ship will go through the Panama Canal to visit Venezuela, New Orleans, Havana, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. The floating fair is expected to end its tour by the summer of 1949 at Quebec and Montreal. The "Captain Paret" will stay in each port for about one week.

Collectivization Pushed in Poland

KATOWICE, Poland — (A) — The productive capacity of Poland's millions of peasants soon may be absorbed in a sweeping collectivization scheme. Leaders of the Communist Workers' Party, which wields the top power in this country, are demanding that all peasants' farm production be "socialized." The first big step in that direction is under way in Upper Silesia. Members of the Peasants' Self-Help Union approved "stimulating and radicalizing the peasant masses in joint work for the cooperative movement."

Eight "mutual help villages" are operating and 40 more are planned. In one district, the sponsors say, collective effort has increased the efficiency of farms and the farmers have built several miles of highway and rebuilt their barns. Communist leaders say socialization is the only way to raise living standards of the average farmer and prevent him from being exploited by the peasant who is financially better off.

How much success the plans will have is still anyone's guess. But it's no secret that the majority of Poland's 15,000,000 peasants are extremely touchy about any suggestion that means collectivization. In the past when the government tried to make the peasants pay taxes in foodstuffs, many peasants started hoarding. Therefore, the Communists are going slow and say the peasants must act voluntarily and will not be forced into the scheme. The move to set up farm machinery centers for common use certainly doesn't antagonize the peasants. It makes available implements to speed this year's bumper harvest and prepare for fall sowings.

TB Survey and Clinic Results Given by Health Department

Results of both the mass TB X-ray survey at the county fair and the TB clinic held August 17 in the health department office have been announced by Dr. Gordon B. Savage, health commissioner.

The TB mobile unit at the Fair took 1622 X-ray pictures of Fair patrons. Of these 18 were found to have suspected TB involvement. Twenty-three photos disclosed non-TB conditions such as enlarged heart, lung abscesses, bronchiectasis, malignancy, and diseases of the large blood vessels.

The mobile unit survey was the result of the cooperation between the Ohio Department of Health, the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association and the Fayette County Health Department.

The 1581 persons whose pictures showed them to be essentially free of TB and the 23 who have non-TB conditions will be notified by mail of the results of the diagnosis of their X-rays. Reports on the 18 who have involvement or suspected involvement will be sent to the family physicians concerned. Doctors will also receive reports for those with non-TB conditions.

Dr. Savage pronounced the survey very successful and a worthwhile project and stated that the

1.1 percent who had suspected involvement according to the X-rays was probably an accurate estimate of the percentage of all Fayette County residents who have TB involvement. He also emphasized the importance of the discovery of non-TB conditions.

Ten of the 21 who attended the TB clinic at the health department offices in the county building August 17 were found to have suspected TB involvement or actual involvement. Seven were found to have non-TB conditions and four were pronounced essentially negative.

The clinic was conducted for those who had been referred to the health department by their physicians. Patients were examined under the fluoroscope by Dr. Damon Wetterauer of Mt. Logan Sanatorium and his findings have been mailed by the health department to the physicians who referred patients to the clinic.

Another clinic will be held by Dr. Wetterauer September 21, Dr. Savage said. As was the case in the August clinic, the clinic will be held by appointment for those who are referred to it by their doctors.

The fluoroscope, which was brought for the health department by the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association, will be used again in this clinic. The purchase of this instrument was made possible by the sale of Christmas seals in 1947, it was stated by Paul Streyer, executive secretary of the association.

New Aid for British Wives of Foreigners

LONDON—A large number of British born wives of foreigners may become subjects of the king again when the new Nationality Bill, now up for its second reading in the House of Commons, is approved.

The government-sponsored measure, which also extends a blanket British nationality to all citizens of the Empire, will prove a boon especially for British women who married enemy aliens before World War II.

Home office sources said they did not know the number of women who lost their British nationality through marriage, but they expected a great number of them would apply to regain it after the bill is sanctioned.

The procedure, home office spokesmen explained, will be, after the bill is approved, for each woman to apply to the home office in London, or to British Embassies or Consulates abroad for regaining of nationality.

Ohio State Fair Opens Saturday For Big Show

Attendance Records Not Main Objective Says Manager Bath

COLUMBUS, Aug. 26—(AP)—Ohio's 1948 State Fair—the "gateway to the nation's breadbasket"—swings open to the public next Saturday.

"More than a half million people" are expected to pour through the gates of the old fairgrounds in Columbus during the week-long exposition, setting an all-time attendance mark.

The current record for total attendance was set in 1946—351,995 paid customers.

"But, we're not striving to set any records," Fair Manager Ed Bath said. "The exhibits will stress quality not quantity. It will be a well-balanced fair."

The 94th annual Ohio State Fair, like its scores of predecessors, will be all things to all customers, a market place, a town meeting, a carnival, a farm school.

Under the roofs of the old buildings and flapping tents studying the grounds, the industrial and agricultural growth of Ohio will be on display. The commonplace facts of farming, things that seem drudgery during work days, will be made glamorous by showmanship.

"Weather permitting," said Manager Bath fondly, "it will be a wonderful show."

A feature attraction this year, the second of Bath's tenure as impresario, will be the state conservation division's exhibit. The small lake at the southeast corner of the fairgrounds will be stocked with 4,000 catfish.

Each child who visits the fair may fish about an hour under the watchful eyes of state game protectors. The game wardens will bait hooks and lend a hand with flopping fish. Equipment and bait will be furnished by the division.

Ohio's farmers apparently plan to take time out from harvesting their record crops to elbow their way through masses of their neighbors, if entries in all divisions of the fair are indications. deadlines for entries for everything except the horse show closed days ago.

The horse show entry list closed last Wednesday and the number was so great the show has crowded out some of the normal entertainment from the coliseum.

This is the second horse show since the war and trophies and $25,000 in cash prizes—about $3,000 more than last year—will be open to winners.

Entries in all divisions have been on the same level. Fair workers are preparing for an overflow of livestock and poultry. More than 120 extra stalls for horses are being erected. Carpenters are hammering away on 1,000 new poultry pens.

The fair will pay out $191,388.40 in premiums and purses, with a good portion to winners in livestock divisions. For the first time, a special division for grass-fed cattle will be included in the premium list.

Visitors will see the same old fairgrounds in a new dress. Painters have livened up the old scenery with coats of aluminum paint.

For the first time in 10 years, the sheep barr restaurant will be open for business. At least 40 eating places will be provided for visitors, and more than $8,000 worth of new restaurant equipment is being purchased for the club house dining room.

Bath said a "carefully selected" midway will be open to the public, with the usual spun cotton candy, pink lemonade, rides and fun houses lending its color to the fair. But, said Bath, there will be no dancing girls or honky-tonk shows.

Thirty-one fair employees are pouring over administration problems of the giant exposition these days, while outside carpenters, painters and other specialists whip the show into shape.

They are working on what Manager Bath calls "a 120-acre show window."

The Appalachian Trail stretches 2,050 miles from northern Georgia to northcentral Maine, winding through 13 states.

Huge Industrial Development In Poland Planned by Russia

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 26—(AP)—Soviet Russia is blueprinting plans for building huge industrial plants in Poland—with accent on steel.

She's taking a big hand in the development of Poland's "little Ruhr" in the lower Silesian lands which this country absorbed from eastern Germany after Potsdam.

Henryk Rozanski, director of the treaty division of the ministry of industry and commerce, recently revealed plans for "carrying out by the Soviet union of projects of all the great industrial plants which are to be built in Poland, as well as supplying investment equipment for such plants."

All of this is to be done under the five-year trade pact which Poland signed with Russia early in 1948. In addition to sending Poland just about everything she needs to get on her industrial feet once again, the Soviets are loaning the Poles $450,000,000.

The Russians are reported to have started big deliveries of machinery and equipment.

One of the projects in which they are showing considerable interest is the construction of huge Soviet-equipped steel mills along the Gliwice (Gleiwitz) canal in lower Silesia, which until the end of the war was a part of eastern Germany.

These mills, expected to start operating within two or three years, are designed to more than double Poland's best pre-war production of 1,500,000 tons of steel.

That's just one item on the Soviet program in Poland. The Russians, too, are highly interested in the agreement between Poland and Czechoslovakia to set up a big industrial hub in southern Poland.

Its operations would extend from Katowice—the Pittsburgh of Poland—to Ostrava, in Czechoslovakia. Plans call for steel mills capable of producing 10,000,000 tons annually. Also planned are chemical plants, foundries and factories of various types.

Cost of Living Goes Up in Vienna

VIENNA —(AP)—The cost of living in Vienna has risen nearly 500 percent in the past ten years. Figures compiled by the Austrian Institute of Economic Research show that in 1938 a worker's family of four persons spent 41.7 Austrian schillings ($4.17 at the present rate of exchange) weekly. The same family now spends 193.49 schillings ($19.35). Recently there has been a downward trend in the cost of living in Vienna from a peak in March of this year.

The present figure is still three and one half times as great as that at the end of the war in 1945.

More Polio in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Aug. 26—(AP)—The state health department reported 12 new polio cases today, bringing the total in Ohio for 1948 to 440. There were 152 cases recorded over a similar period last year.

When scientists understand the full process, and can control it better, many deaths from clots that form inside blood vessels may be prevented.

One of these chemicals is prothrombin, a protein in the blood. It produces thrombin, which in turn acts on fibrinogen to make the clots. New studies with highly purified prothrombin were described by Drs. Walter H. Seegers and Arnold G. Ware of Wayne University College of Medicine, Detroit.

One puzzle has been how prothrombin makes thrombin fast enough. As soon as some thrombin is formed in the blood, an anti-thrombin tries to destroy it. At least three other chemicals, they found, speed up the production of thrombin. One of these is a recently discovered substance in the blood. The first production of a little thrombin may start it into action to produce a lot of thrombin quickly, Dr. Seegers and Dr. Ware said.

Kentucky Toll Bridges Pay Off Their Cost

FRANKFORT, Ky. —(AP)—Only one toll bridge built or purchased by Kentucky in the past 17 years still charges tolls. The lone state-owned toll charging bridge is the "Central Bridge" over the Ohio River between Newport, Ky., and Cincinnati, Ohio. Kentucky acquired it within the past year by means of a $1,000,000 bond issue.

The State Highway Department reported $17,280,000 in revenue bonds to finance the intrastate program all have been paid off by toll collections. The last span lying wholly within the state became toll free July 31 at Rockport. There are 80 privately owned toll bridges in the state.

Community Members Get Behind Park Project in Jeffersonville

People of the Jeffersonville community are hard at work on an ambitious park project behind the Jeffersonville school building.

Three baseball fields, children's, intermediate, and full sized are planned for the area as well as a large public ground with rest rooms. A merry-go-round and jungle bars have already been ordered for placement in the play area of the park.

Clearing of space has begun for the tennis courts which will be in one corner of the field.

Work will continue for a long time in improving the park once it is established, according to Clarence Stuckey, president of the Jeffersonville Lions.

Facilities that already have been envisioned by Lions Club members and others who are co-operating in the project includes croquet grounds, horseshoe courts, and space for games for all members of the family.

From the beginning of the idea by Lions in June this year, the park has had enthusiastic support from Jeffersonville community members. People have donated their time and equipment for the grading work which is completed one one of the fields and on the picnic area. Lions hope to finish all

Art Experts Find New Titian Painting

MORENA, Italy.—(AP)—A canvas hanging in the apartment of an opera singer here has been identified by art experts as the work of the immortal Titian.

The painting, the property of Baritone Vincenzo Guicciardi, depicts Christ with a rope around his neck being dragged to face Pontius Pilate.

A work on a like subject in the San Rocco church at Venice had always been deemed to be Titian's, and the one here a copy. But the art experts, headed by some of Italy's most reputable critics, recently decided the Modena canvas was the original and the Venetian one the copy.

Soon after they passed judgement, a group of art lovers from Venezuela was reported to have offered Guicciardi 50 million lire ($83,000) for the canvas. However, the singer told them he planned to present it to Modena's civic museum.

other grading work in time for seeding this fall, Stuckey said.

Beginning funds for the project were raised by the Lions in June with a carnival held on the grounds they are now improving. Tractors have been donated for the grading work by Oscar and Asa Fannin, Kermit Knox, Tom Jones, Neal Conner, Lester Allen and Ellsworth Vannorsdall. The Jefferson Township grader is also being used on the project.

Those who are not pictured above, but have also donated generous efforts in the park project are Russ Mitchell, Bill Fannin, Bud Mason, Bill Miller and Ben Kinnison.

Fire Truck Chasers In Kentucky Warned

PRINCETON, Ky.—(AP)—This city recently published a warning to automobile drivers who have been violating an ordinance which forbids chasing the fire truck to fires. And "if this doesn't accomplish the purpose, the ordinance will be strictly enforced and offenders arrested and fined," Police Chief Roy Rosser said. The ordinance provides a $10 to $25 fine for drivers of vehicles who remain in motion within 200 feet of the fire truck.

Democracy-Communism Fight Is Entered by Church Council

BY RICHARD TOMPKINS

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Aug. 26—(AP)—The east-west conflict has brought the world council of churches to its feet. What are the churches going to do about it?

Delegates have listened for three days to introductory speeches concluding the first part of this church assembly. They have heard agreement on the futility of war and the need for peace. Conflicting east and west views have been voiced.

Today they got down to brass tacks in perhaps the most vigorous and heated discussions of the assembly to see what steps the churches can take to ease a world situation which has boiled up to crisis at Berlin.

Some of the world's leading churchmen go behind closed doors to work out a composite, if not a unified, view as the basis for a significant church pronouncement on east-west differences.

For practical work of the assembly, the delegates have been divided into four main groups, concerned with the church's "message to major problems in the contemporary world." The group concerned with "the church and international disorder" has emerged as the most important of these.

Two conflicting points of view were expressed yesterday before this group, with delegates intently listening to both—John Foster Dulles of the United States for the west, and Prof. Joseph L. Hromadka of Czechoslovakia for the east.

Dulles challenged Communism and declared that the Soviet Communist regime was not for peace and "does not purport to be." Hromadka declared that the world is witnessing the end of western supremacy in the world because of "anxiety about the advancing social transformations under the leadership of the Soviet union."

Why It's Hard For Song Writers to Crash Market

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—It's a familiar refrain: You've written a song and all your friends say it's awfully good. But no one wants to publish it. In fact, you can't even get a publisher to look at it.

Just pull up a chair and we'll tell you the facts of life about becoming a hit-song writer.

There's no hard and fast pattern, but here are a few good ways to make sure someone hears your song:

Buy a well-known music publishing business and print your own songs.

Marry the publisher's daughter.

Get a job as a disc jockey and plug your song.

Have a brother who is a band leader and get him to do a recording of it.

Pal around with the important people in the music business, or with their best friends.

If none of these approaches is feasible, you might try to get a job—any job—in the music business and bore from within. But before you pack your suitcase and head for Tin Pan Alley, remember that your chances of success are about the same as those of a Hollywood studio employee becoming a star.

The easiest part of crashing the music gates seems to be the creation of the song itself. The big problem is getting over the threshold among the professionals.

Abe Olman, an ex-songwriter who now heads one of the biggest music publishing organizations (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's big three) thinks that a successful song-writer must be a part of Tin Pan Alley, the small Manhattan area a stone's throw in any direction from 50th Street and Broadway. That's where most of the music publishing offices are located; where the writers, the executives and the musicians hang out and talk shop.

Olman quit a job as a department store piano player some 35 years ago and came to Tin Pan Alley as a $25-a-week piano player. Before he graduated into the executive echelon, he had a string of tunes to his credit, including "Oh, Johnny, Oh."

Gershwin played piano in a music house; Jimmy McHugh was a song plugger.

Some song-writers slip in by a side door. A whole bunch of popular song writers picked up their experience writing college shows: Oscar Hammerstein, Richard Rodgers, Alan Lerner. They went on to write music for Broadway shows.

Olman noted that there were a number of music publishing houses, all over the country, which print the amateur's music for a fee.

"When young songwriters ask about those, we won't give them any advice," he said. "We tell them to check the company with their better business bureau. Some of them are honest; others aren't."

A number of clubs have been formed, cooperatives of amateurs to push musical products into the public's gaze. Some radio stations have programs which give the amateur a break by playing new unpublished songs.

Contests occasionally are developed to give ambitious newcomers a break, with top-flight musicians acting as judges. The prize usually is a well-publicized rendition of the winning selection plus its publication by a real Tin Pan Alley house.

These, however, are flank assaults on the program. Mark Goldman, head of the Warner Brothers' Music Publishing corporations, believes that a frontal attack, by means of contacts, is the best.

"Look at Dick Redmond, whose first song it 'Just For Now,' said Goldman. 'He's a Harrisburg, Pa. boy and he wrote the song' there. He didn't know what to do with it. But he knew a girl who is a singer in a name band. She brought him to us. We liked the song and published it."

But Redmond wouldn't have had a chance had he bumbled up his music and mailed it to a publisher. When they suspect they are receiving an unsolicited manuscript, it's returned unopened.

Board to Hold Meeting Soon

First Inspections
On August 31

First meeting of the new Board of County Visitors, named recently by Probate Judge Rell G. Allen, will be held August 31, and on that date the board will formally organize and make its first visits, it was stated Thursday.

In the meantime Mrs. Kathryn Davis is temporary chairman of the board.

The duties of the board, which is composed of Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Jocelyn Harper, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, Mrs. Jane Rankin, Mrs. Mary Brownell and Mrs. Virginia VanVoorhis, are to make visits every three months to the Fayette County Jail and the Washington C. H. City Prison, and ascertain how the various places are kept and if in accordance with the laws.

The appointment order reads that the board is named for "inspection of all charitable and correctional institutions supported in whole or in part by county or municipal funds."

"We'd like to take a look at all the songs they send to us," said Goldman. "But we can't because of the danger of plagiarism suits."

Music publishers, strangely enough, are interested in making money from publishing songs. They make money from a hit. And a hit is a song that reaches beyond 300,000 copies.

Goldman summed up the problem:

"We like to have new talent, sure," he said. "But it's not just for art's sake. Music publishing is a business."

Billy Rose, producer, columnist and night-club owner who once wrote a number of popular songs, nodded in agreement.

"There's more to it," he said, "than rhyming 'moon' with 'macaroon.'"

Big Planes Menace To Art Windows

PARIS.—(AP)—Lovers of French art are agitating for removal of the Chartres airframe whose landing strips are less than 450 yards from the towers of the world-famous Chartres cathedral. They were supported in a recent letter from Education Minister Edward Depreux to Air Minister Andre Marcellin.

It is said that the mere passage of a big bomber at a low altitude would endanger treasured stained-glass windows by the vibration of its motors. The windows, removed to safety during the war, have now been replaced in large part.

15 Facing Eviction From Vet Housing

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Fifteen tenants in Youngstown's 200-unit veterans housing project face possible eviction for nonpayment of rent ranging from two months to six months, city officials said today. The tenants are being given three days to pay up.

An Australian bottle tree can store up to 80 gallons of water in its trunk.

Life Is Longer In Middlewest

Span for Women Longer than Men's

NEW YORK.—(AP)—The chances for long life in the United States are best in the Midwest, a study of death rates shows. "The best record for longevity in our country is found in the West North Central States—Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, the Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas," says the Statistical Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. There the average length of life (expectation of life at birth) in 1939-41 was 65.23 years for white males, and 69.22 years for white females.

These life expectancies are three to four years longer than the mountain states, which have the least favorable record. The mountain states include Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and Utah. The high death rate among the large Spanish-speaking population of Arizona and New Mexico is mainly responsible for this difference between the two geographical areas.

At the age of 45, men and women of the west north central states still can look forward to the longest life. The expectation then is 27.56 more years of life for men, and 30.23 for women. At 45, the lowest expectation of life is in the highly industrialized northeast, the Bulletin finds. In the Middle Atlantic States of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, men of 45 can expect, on the average, only 24.74 more years, and women 27.56. Men of 45 in New England can expect 25.37 more years, and women 28.32 years.

The best record in preventing infant mortality was shown on the Pacific coast. In the mountain states area, the infant mortality rate was fully 50 percent higher.

"The variation in mortality and longevity from one area to another undoubtedly arises out of a variety of factors—differences in the general standard of living, degree of industrialization, density of population, adequacy and availability of medical and hospital facilities, climate, et cetera. An intensified effort to reduce the toll of premature death in the less favored areas would tend to equalize the mortality throughout the country at the level of the best areas."

Federal Buildings Guarded By Force of Well-Trained Men

WASHINGTON.—An age-yellowed notation reads:

"Night guard, president's house—$20. November 18, 1800."

That was the year the government moved from Philadelphia to Washington, then a town of 3,210 persons. It was the real beginning of the federal building guards.

The guard unit grew to a World War II peak of 3,357 guards. There are now about 1,900. They form one of the oldest protection corps in the country, although actual records show the federal government employed six men—at salaries up to $300 a year—as early as 1789 "to protect government property and personnel."

The guards—95 percent of them are war veterans—now are a part of the Federal Works Agency. In Washington alone they protect 201 federal buildings in which 192,000 government workers are employed.

Their primary duties are to guard against fire, theft and accidents and to carry out approved safety practices.

Fire loss in the guarded buildings in 1947 was less than $5000. In 1940 it was only $515. The worst record in recent years was the $12,110 fire loss of 1943-44.

One officer of the organization says "industry's loss, over a similar 60,000,000 square feet of space, would run into millions."

In 1947 the detective unit arrested 188 persons and recovered $32,892.50 in government and private property. Cases investigated included: petit larceny 1,170; grand larceny 514; breaking and entering 24; gambling 37; rifling and tampering with mails 34; indecent actions 30; threats in anonymous letters 14; assault 7; obscene writing (on walls) 8; forgery 6.

In 1924 Congress gave the guards—along with new-style uniforms—authority for the first time to make arrests and to carry firearms. During World War II they took the responsibility of blackout duty and evacuation to air raid shelters in the Military District of Washington.

They also guarded the office of scientific research and development—responsible for the development of the atomic bomb—the naval research laboratory, office of strategic services, weather bureau, British admiralty, allied high command and other offices dealing with plans for guns, tanks, planes

'Skylarks' Are To Give Recital At Baptist Church on Friday

THE SKYLARKS — Sally Heitzman, Anne Gabel, Ruthe Dubois, Sue Ann Munn, Jeannine Halterman, Beth Downey and Dolores Murphy.

Ruthe DuBois Beth Downey Dolores Murphy

The Skylarks will be featured at a recital Friday night in the First Baptist Church when Mrs. Betty Peterson Hemmert will bring a group of her voice and piano pupils here from Piqua. The recital will start at 8:15 P. M.

The soloists on the program will be Dolores Murphy, soprano; Beth Downey, mezzo-soprano; and Ruthe DuBois, contralto.

Miss Murphy was graduated this year from Piqua High School where Mrs. Hemmert, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Peterson, was formerly music supervisor. Miss Murphy plans to continue her study of music at Ohio State University. She was given "Superior" ratings in state contests for the past two years.

Miss Downey, who was also classified "Superior" in statewide competition, will be a junior at PHS this year. She also plans to study music following her graduation.

Ruthe DuBois not only sings, but plays the piano, organ and violin. She has been accepted at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music where she will continue her music education this fall. She will appear on the program not only as a vocalist, but as accompanist for the Skylarks, and in a piano duet with Mrs. Hemmert.

Classics, light opera and popular tunes will be on the program and a large number of songs will be the products of American composers. The George Gershwin numbers which the Skylarks will sing have been arranged for them by Mrs. Hemmert.

The Skylarks have appeared before many audiences in Piqua and have broadcast several times. An offer to "go professional" was turned down by the girls in favor of continuing their studies. Mrs. Hemmert organized the group last fall.

Atomic Energy Has Place in Business World

Present Day Uses Many and Varied; Research Goes On

By FRANK CAREY • WASHINGTON — Here's what atomic energy means to the business world—NOT in the distant future, but right now!

Even as research is going on looking toward development of atomic power and the further application of radioactive by-products to medicine, agriculture and industry, the businessman has immediate opportunities, says the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

In what way? By furnishing supplies and equipment needed for atomic energy research and application.

Such materials range from electronic equipment needed to detect and measure radioactivity right along the line to lead bricks and shielding needed to protect workers from dangerous atomic "rays."

Speaking of "isotopes"—the radioactive by-products of A-bomb development—the Commission said in its recent report to Congress:

"The businessman has reason to be interested in isotopes. Their utilization in scientific research has created a demand for new kinds of equipment and services which will continue to grow very rapidly in the years ahead. Their application to industrial problems opens an immense field for future development."

In the pioneer "radiation laboratories" now operating, says AEC, scientists have been forced to improvise most of the equipment they use.

"Such laboratories," says the commission, "today constitute a rapidly growing market for a great variety of equipment and services—new equipment for the assay of radiations, for protection against radiation hazards and for the handling of radiomaterials; yet-to-be provided services for the design of laboratory, the maintenance of complex instruments and the preparation of compounds labeled with radioisotopes."

"As rapidly as these present demands are supplied, new projects will get under way, new research will be possible."

"The supplying of these growing demands is a job for business. . . . Electronics firms have already taken the lead. Thirty of them are in the business of supplying radiation detection instruments. But the commissions says an obvious complement to this business—already undertaken by at least one firm—is the supplying of "other specialized equipment." Such would include lead bricks and chests for shielding, . . . high-speed fans for ventilation, . . . expansion-type tools for the remote control handling of radioactive hot stuff.

The commission says the electronic industry has steadily been multiplying its output of radiation measurement instruments—and improving their performance.

"But much development remains to be done; eventually, the radiation counter may be as simple to operate for the biologist in the laboratory, or the materials inspector in a plant, as is the home radio for everybody today." (A radiation counter is an instrument that "counts" atomic rays—thus measuring the strength of the radiation source).

The AEC chiefs see "no foreseeable limits" to the need for variation and elaboration of detection devices to suit specialized needs. And the same is true in the case of specialized detection instruments for the protection of workers—including "pocket" meters and "film badges" for measuring the amount of radioactivity to which an individual is exposed.

Still another field for the businessman covers the preparation of compounds containing radioactive isotopes obtainable from the AEC. Up to now, AEC has been supplying such compounds ready-made, but the commission is encouraging business to prepare the actual compounds after obtaining the radioactive component from the commission's facilities. Already, one firm has started production of such compounds. A second has completed necessary arrangements with AEC. Three others are negotiating.

New State of Unosia Being Formed

By ROBERT C. WILSON PARIS, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The new, independent state of "Unosia" is being born in the capital of France.

The tiny, sovereign state will cover 10 acres of land, and number about 4,500 inhabitants.

This makes it even smaller than Andorra, Monaco, or Liechtenstein. But Unosia will be far more powerful and far more polygot. Its members will come from 58 other sovereign nations.

Unosia has the reputation of being the most Pacific of states, but just in case it will be guarded by at least a 50-man police force, and a 20-man fire department.

It may perhaps even be guarded by anti-aircraft guns. A passport will be needed to enter Unosia.

Once within its sacred precincts, firm—is the supplying of "other specialized equipment." Such would include lead bricks and chests for shielding, . . . high-speed fans for ventilation, . . . expansion-type tools for the remote control handling of radioactive hot stuff.

The commission says the electronic industry has steadily been multiplying its output of radiation measurement instruments—and improving their performance.

"But much development remains to be done; eventually, the radiation counter may be as simple to operate for the biologist in the laboratory, or the materials inspector in a plant, as is the home radio for everybody today." (A radiation counter is an instrument that "counts" atomic rays—thus measuring the strength of the radiation source).

The AEC chiefs see "no foreseeable limits" to the need for variation and elaboration of detection devices to suit specialized needs. And the same is true in the case of specialized detection instruments for the protection of workers—including "pocket" meters and "film badges" for measuring the amount of radioactivity to which an individual is exposed.

Still another field for the businessman covers the preparation of compounds containing radioactive isotopes obtainable from the AEC. Up to now, AEC has been supplying such compounds ready-made, but the commission is encouraging business to prepare the actual compounds after obtaining the radioactive component from the commission's facilities. Already, one firm has started production of such compounds. A second has completed necessary arrangements with AEC. Three others are negotiating.

Ohio Campaign Gets Under Way On Fair Circuit

Both Candidates For Governor Get Off to Early Start

By H. H. DAUGHERTY
COLUMBUS, Aug. 26 (AP)—The Ohio political campaign has not yet reached the noisy stage but the two gubernatorial candidates are not letting the grass grow under their feet.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, the lead-off man for the Republican state and county tickets, is busy on the county fair circuit where he often runs into his Democrat opponent former Gov. Frank J. Lausche. Gov. Herbert sometimes attends three county fairs in one day. Picnic and home-coming celebrations often are switched in between the fair engagements.

Politics and campaign issues rarely come in for public discussions at these county gatherings, but the candidates busy themselves meeting as many voters personally as possible. The odds are that either candidate would pay much attention to these gatherings were they not interested in the votes they hope to receive next November.

The intensive campaign where the candidates address political rallies on the issues of the campaign will not start until the latter part of September—after the two parties have held their platform conventions.

The Republican platform convention is scheduled Sept. 23, and the Democratic state committee meets here next Wednesday to fix the time and place for their convention.

The Democratic convention, is expected to endorse the administration of President Truman and the platform promulgated by the national convention. In other words the Ohio Democratic organizations are expected to remain regular and not follow either Henry Wallace's progressive party or the southern Dixiecrats.

Though the Wallace progressive party now is assured representation on the Ohio presidential ballot, through the listing of its 24 candidates for elector as independent candidates, the presidential battle in Ohio will be principally between President Truman and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican standard bearer. The Dixiecrats will have no representation on the Ohio ballot.

Wallace's vote strength is expected to be negligible but it nevertheless may mean the margin of victory for either of the two old party candidates. Political observers generally consider the Wallace defection from the Truman ticket will aid Governor Dewey's chances of carrying the state. He carried it four years ago against President Franklin D. Roosevelt seeking a fourth term by some 12,000 votes. Gov. John W. Bricker, now U. S. senator, was Dewey's running mate at that time. Bricker no doubt added considerable strength to the Republican ticket.

Warsaw, Poland —(AP)— Poland expects to be supplying a major share of Czechoslovakia's electric power demands by 1952. Under this nation's "working partnership" with the Czechs, engineers now are laying the groundwork for the construction of giant electric power projects at Dwory, near Oswiecim, in southern Poland and near the Czechoslovakian frontier.

Poland is building the project. Czechoslovakia is supplying half the total value. She is giving the main machinery equipment, such as turbines, boilers, generators, transformers, and other products of heavy industry. The electric power works are to be the sole property of Poland. She will pay Czechoslovakia for the equipment used by supplying electric power produced by the works. After those costs are paid, Poland then will supply electric power to the Czechs for 20 years. Czechs will then pay tariffs based on current prices of coal during the years the agreement is in operation.

Tsetse Flies Attacked With Chemical Bombs

LONDON —(AP)— The Tsetse fly is being attacked with a bomb. The colonial insecticides committee says that the bomb assault on the fly will be made experimentally on an uninhabited island of Lake Victoria.

Scientists believe that a chemical bomb dropped by a helicopter will release an insecticidal smoke which will be kept close to the ground by jungle foliage. The insecticidal smoke may not only annihilate the fly which is a major problem to the livestock industry, but other insects as well. And some of them are beneficial to man. A problem is to make the smoke selective. An uninhabited

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE
HERCULE POIROT carefully folded the last of the newspapers he had sent George out to purchase. The information they gave was somewhat meager. Medical evidence was given that the man's skull was fractured by a series of heavy blows. The inquest had been adjourned for a fortnight. Anybody who could give information about a man named Enoch Arden believed to have lately arrived from Capetown was asked to communicate with the Chief Constable of Oastshire.

Poirot laid the papers in a neat pile and gave himself up to meditation. He was interested. He might, perhaps, have passed the first small paragraph by without interest if it had not been for the recent visit of Mrs. Lionel Cloade. But that visit had recalled to him very clearly the incidents of that day at the Club during that Air Raid. He remembered, very distinctly, Major Porter's voice saying, "Maybe a Mr. Enoch Arden will turn up somewhere a thousand miles away and start life anew." He wanted now, rather badly, to know more about this man called Enoch Arden who had died by violence at Warsley Vale.

He remembered that he was slightly acquainted with Superintendent Spence of the Oastshire Police and he also remembered that young Mellon lived not very far from Warsley Heath, and that young Mellon knew Jeremy Cloade.

It was while he was meditating a telephone call to young Mellon that George came in and announced that a Mr. Rowley Cloade would like to see him.

"Aha," said Hercule Poirot with satisfaction. "Show him in."

A good-looking worried young man was shown in, and seemed rather at a loss how to begin.

"Well, Mr. Cloade," said Poirot helpfully, "and what can I do for you?"

Rowley Cloade was eyeing Poirot rather doubtfully. The flamboyant mustaches, the sartorial elegance, the white spats and the pointed patent leather shoes all filled this insular young man with distinct misgivings.

Poirot realized this perfectly well, and was somewhat amused. Rowley Cloade began rather heavily.

"I'm afraid I'll have to explain who I am and all that. You won't know my name—"

Poirot interrupted him: "But yes, I know your name perfectly. Your aunt, you see, came to see me last week."

"My aunt?" Rowley's jaw dropped. He stared at Poirot with utmost astonishment. This so clearly was news to him, that Poirot put aside his first surmise which was that the two visits were connected. For a moment it seemed to him a remarkable coincidence that two members of the Cloade family should choose to consult him within such a short period of time, but a second later he realized that there was no coincidence—merely a natural sequence proceeding from one initial cause.

Aloud he said: "I assume that Mrs. Lionel Cloade is your aunt."

If anything Rowley looked rather more astonished than before. He said with the utmost incredulity: "Aunt Kathie? Surely—don't you mean—Mrs. Jeremy Cloade?"

Poirot shook his head. "But what on earth could Aunt Kathie—"

Poirot murmured discreetly: "She was directed to me, I understand, by spirit guidance."

"Oh Lord!" said Rowley. He looked relieved and amused. He said, as though reassuring Poirot, "She's quite harmless, you know."

"I wonder," said Poirot. "What do you mean?"

"Is anybody—ever—quite harmless?" Rowley stared. Poirot sighed. "You have come to me to ask me something?—Yes?" he prompted gently.

The worried look came back to Rowley's face. "It's rather a long story, I'm afraid—"

Poirot was afraid of it, too. He had a very shrewd idea that Rowley Cloade was not the sort of person to come to the point quickly. He leaned back and half-closed his eyes as Rowley began:

"My uncle, you see, was Gordon Cloade—"

"I know all about Gordon Cloade," said Poirot, helpfully. "Good. Then I needn't explain. He married a few weeks before his death—a young widow called Underhay. Since his death she has been living at Warsley Vale—she and a brother of hers. We all understood that her first husband had died of fever in Africa. But now it seems as though that mightn't be so."

"Ah," Poirot sat up. "And what has led you to that surmise?"

Rowley described the advent of Mr. Enoch Arden in Warsley Vale. "Perhaps you have seen in the papers—"

"Yes, I have seen," Poirot was again helpful. Rowley went on. He described his first impression of the man

Arden, his visit to the Stag, the letter he had received from Beatrice Lippincott, and finally the conversation that Beatrice had overheard.

"Of course," Rowley said, "one can't be sure just what she did hear. She may have exaggerated it all a bit—or even got it wrong."

"Has she told her story to the police?" Rowley nodded. "I told her she'd better."

"I don't quite see—pardon me—why you come to me, Mr. Cloade? Do you want me to investigate this—murder? For it is murder, I assume."

"Lord, no," said Rowley. "I don't want anything of the kind. That's a police job. He was bumped off all right. No, what I'm after is this. I want you to find out who the fellow was."

Poirot's eyes narrowed. "Who do you think he was, Mr. Cloade?"

"Well, I mean—Enoch Arden isn't a name. Dash it all, it's a quotation. Tennyson. I went and ruggled it up. Fellow who comes back and finds out his wife has married another fellow."

"So you think," said Poirot quietly, "that Enoch Arden was Robert Underhay himself?"

Rowley said slowly: "Well he might have been—I mean, about the right age and appearance and all that. Of course I've gone over it all with Beatrice again and again. She can't naturally remember exactly what they both said. The chap said Robert Underhay had come down in the world and was in bad health and needed money. Well, he might have been talking about himself, mightn't he? He seems to have said something about it wouldn't suit David Hunter's book if Underhay turned up in Warsley Vale—sounding a bit as though he was there under an assumed name."

"What evidence of identification was there at the inquest?" Rowley shook his head. "Nothing definite. Only the Stag people saying he was the man who'd come there and registered as Enoch Arden."

"What about his papers?" "He hadn't any."

"What?" Poirot sat up in surprise. "No papers of any kind?"

"Nothing at all. Some spare socks and a shirt and a toothbrush, etc.—but no papers."

"No passport? No letters? Not even a ration card?"

"Nothing at all."

"That," said Poirot, "is very interesting. Yes, very interesting."

Bridegroom Killed In Plane Crash

COLUMBUS, Aug. 26—(AP)—Lt. Harvey N. Pinkney, 29-year-old bridegroom of 17 days, was killed last night in the landing crash of two fighter planes at nearby Lockbourne air base.

Lieutenant Pinkney's craft and a plane flown by Lt. Lewis J. Lynch of Columbus collided as both attempted to land. Lynch was uninjured.

Pinkney of Baltimore, Md. (1112 N. Monroe St.) was married Aug. 8. The widow, Sarah Pinkney, lived in Dayton (309 Springfield St.).

Firefighters made four attempts before retrieving the body of the dead pilot from his burning plane.

Reds Build Big Plane
MOSCOW —(AP)—One of the new airplanes shown at the annual Soviet airshow at Tushino airdrome near Moscow was a seventy-seat four-motored passenger craft. This plane, which is larger than any of the planes at present in regular service on Soviet civil airlines, is, says Moscow observers, destined to be common in the future a common sight on Soviet airports.

The province of Ontario, Canada, has an area of more than 412,000 square miles.

County-Wide Local Option Law Is Sought

Many Petitions Are Circulated Here In Recent Weeks

While no petitions calling for local option votes have been circulated in any district in Fayette County this year, a much more comprehensive move, backed by the WCTU here, the Ohio Council of Churches and Ohio Temperance League (formerly the Ohio Anti-Saloon League) has been launched.

It is a move for a law permitting local option votes in entire counties instead of just by districts of a county, and the move is under way in 44 Ohio counties.

The petitions are being widely signed in Fayette County, and many of the petitions are ready for filing, according to Mrs. Frank Haines, president of the Fayette County Women's Christian Temperance Union.

In a statement released Thursday, Mrs. Haines states:

"The County Women's Christian Temperance Union sponsored the circulation, between June 20th and August 20th, of 60 petitions for the signatures of persons eligible to vote in Fayette County. These petitions are the first step in the process of initiating a law in Ohio that will permit a whole county to vote as one unit on the question of prohibiting the sale of alcoholic beverages."

"Under the present law the largest area that can vote as a unit is a township (excluding any incorporated village or city therein) or an incorporated village or city. If this proposed law eventually becomes the law of Ohio then there can be a county wide vote on the same ballots to prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages in the whole county."

"This proposed law, being thus initiated, may possibly be for a state wide vote in the November, 1949 election for everyone to vote 'yes' or 'no' on whether it shall be a state law."

"The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Fayette County has not, so far this year, circulated any petitions to have local option elections in any township, incorporated village or city or precincts thereof."

JOUAM Officers May Go To State Meet

Some officers of the Washington C. H. Junior Order of United American Mechanics Chapter 263 hope to attend the five-day state convention of the organization in Columbus beginning Saturday, according to Ernest Arbogast, recording secretary of the JOUAM here.

More than 100 delegates are expected at the convention where Louis Bromfield will be one of the principal speakers. Talks by Governor Herbert and Mayor Rhodes will also be given at the convention and a business meeting will be held. Delegates to the convention will enjoy a visit to the Ohio State Fair.

Some of the members of the Washington C. H. group who may attend are Harry Eye, councillor, Corwin Carr, financial secretary and Elga Sanderson, Arbogast said.

Fire which apparently started from a short circuit, destroyed an automobile owned by Charles Brown, of the Hess Road, while the car was being driven on Hickory Lane, a mile north of this city, at 7:15 A. M. Thursday.

Boys Picked Up

Two runaway boys, Pat and Mike Stonestreak, of Musselman, were picked up by Sheriff Orland Hays, as they were begging for food at farm houses on the CCC Highway west of this city, and will be turned over to the juvenile authorities.

The boys had just been returned home from running away a short time ago. Pat was 14 and Mike 16.

Many Veterans Get More Pay

A Number In This County Affected

The compensation status of a number of men in this community who are receiving from 60 to 100 percent disability compensation has been affected by recent legislation according to Bernard Witherspoon, Fayette County Veterans Service Officer. It concerns the veteran with one or more dependents.

The change will mean additional money coming in, Witherspoon declared.

A public record of marriage and birth certificates of all children under 18 years of age should be furnished to the VA in order to qualify for the increase. Steps should be taken to notify the VA also if parents are listed as known dependents.

Other changes in the dependency status such as death, additional births and termination of marriage should be brought to the attention of the VA accompanied by the proper evidence in order to prevent overpayment and consequent VA demand for the return of excess funds paid any claimant, Witherspoon stated.

Mrs. Freda Jones Dies in Hospital

Mrs. Freda Bly Jones of Williamsport died at 9 A. M. Wednesday in White Cross Hospital, Columbus, where she had been a patient for the past two and a half months. She was 51 years old and had been in failing health for the past three years.

Born in Atlanta, Mrs. Jones had been a resident of Atlanta and Williamsport her entire life.

She is survived by her husband, William; her mother, Mrs. Effie G. Driesbach of Roxabel; a daughter, Mrs. Wanda Noble of Leitsville; a son, Wendell of New Holland; six grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Mont Drake of Atlanta; Mrs. Oscar Seitz of Chillicothe; Mrs. Curley Ryne of Dayton and Mrs. Robert Lowery of Roxabel; and four brothers: Ancil Driesbach of Williamsport; Pearl Driesbach of Brownsburg, Ind.; Walter Driesbach of Washington C. H. and Clydus Driesbach of Chillicothe.

Two More Alleys To Be Resurfaced

Hot mix resurfacing of Washington C. H. alleys will continue this week with the resurfacing of at least one more alley, according to Winston W. Hill, city manager.

The alley east of the court house from Court to Market Street is the next one on the schedule and the one that extends from Fayette St. to the court house alley will also be resurfaced, Hill said.

Hot mix for these alleys is being hauled in city trucks from Melvin in Clinton County. The city expects to continue this program until cold weather makes resurfacing impractical and as long as funds are available, Hill said.

NSLI Available Still To Ex Servicemen

G. I. Insurance still is available to World War II veterans who served between Oct. 8, 1940 and Sept. 2, 1945, even though they may not have had it during their service, Bernard Witherspoon, Fayette County Veterans service officer said Wednesday.

In fact, he added, veterans of World War I can still get their U. S. government life insurance under the same conditions.

All that is necessary is the completion of a physical examination provided free at any VA facility which has a full time medical officer or if it is more convenient an examination may be made by any private physician at the veteran's expense, Witherspoon declared.

The five year term plan or any of the six permanent forms of National Service Life Insurance are available to those veterans who want them, Witherspoon said. Policies may range from $1,000 to $10,000 in multiples of $500.

Annual Percheron Show at State Fair

The National Percheron Show, an annual Percheron classic, is again this year to be held at the Ohio State Fair, Columbus, Aug. 28-Sept. 2. Because of its generous purse of $8,850 to be paid in premium awards this event will attract not only Ohio breeders of note but many out-of-state exhibitors.

The Buckeye state exhibitors always offer very stiff competition and are often the top winners in the nation's outstanding shows. For example: It is Ohio that won the 1946, and the 1947 grand champion stallion awards at the

Reserved Seats For Football Here Are Going Fast

Reserved seats for the Washington C. H. High School Blue Lions' football games were being assigned rapidly Thursday at Patton's Book Store following the announcement that special sections would be reserved again this year.

Practically all of the seats on the home (south) side of the Gardner Park field were taken two hours after the store opened. A large number of fans were crowded about the doors of the store when it was opened.

Seats are still available, however, on the visitor's side of the field and around the 40 yard line on the home side. A few single seats are also available—some of them in choice locations.

Tickets for the six home games are on sale by members of the football squad. Fans are reminded that a ticket is required before any seat can be reserved.

Dining Room For Restaurant

Anderson Drive-In Building Enlarged

A new dining room today is ready for private parties or to take care of the overflow at crowded periods at the Anderson Drive-In Restaurant on the CCC Highway at the western edge of Washington C. H.

Although it has been used several times in emergencies, it was formally opened with a dinner for executives and department heads of the Pennington Bros. Bakery, right across the street, Wednesday evening.

The new dining room, 16 feet wide and 28 feet long, was built across the main restaurant building. It has a private entrance and connects directly with the kitchen.

There is no counter and no booths—only tables and chairs which may be moved to suit conditions. It has a seating capacity of as many as 50 guests, but the management explained that by arrangement of the tables the dining room is adaptable to much smaller parties.

Venetian blinds are at the windows and a condiment buffet is along the wall.

The restaurant now has accommodations for 150. Frequently, the management said, the crowds can not be handled in the main restaurant with its counter stools and booths. Hereafter, it was said, the new dining room will be opened to take care of the overflow.

The restaurant was taken over about three years ago by Paul C. and Eldon Anderson, brothers, who came here from Chillicothe with a background of restaurant experience there.

When the new dining room was added, the kitchen was rearranged and some new modern equipment put in. A new "walk-in" cooler has been installed to keep meat and perishables.

Arm Is Lacerated At Canning Plant

Harvey Self, of 805 John Street, who was operating a cutting machine in the Stokley Canning Co. plant here Wednesday, sustained severe lacerations of his right arm and painful bruises when his arm was caught in the machinery.

He was cared for by Dr. Clarence G. Hayes.

Cupid is Not Affected By Draft Here

The draft has not been responsible for an increase in the number of marriage licenses obtained in Fayette County, as disclosed by the marriage records.

This is in spite of President Truman's disclosure Friday that men who marry between now and the time they have to register for service will be exempt from the draft.

There have been nine licenses applied for since August 13 and 14 so for this month, the books disclosed.

There are 14 for the month of August last year. In July this year there were nine applications.

In some communities there has been a sudden increase in the number of marriage applications since announcement was made that married men would be exempt if married before they register for military training.
